

STEEL TRUST LEGAL SAYS SUPREME COURT

Washington, March 6.—By a vote of four to three the United States supreme court has held that the Sherman anti-trust law, the decision means the complete defeat of the government in a long-fought suit for dissolution.

The majority opinion was agreed upon by Chief Justice White, Associate Justices McHugh, Holmes and Brandeis. The dissenting opinion was written by Justice Brandeis.

The case arose from a suit brought by the United States against the American Steel Corporation, a trust which had been formed by the combination of the American Steel Corporation, the Carnegie Steel Company, the Federal Steel Corporation, the Inland Steel Company, the Republic Steel Corporation, the Westinghouse Steel Corporation, the Young Iron Works, and the American Iron Works.

The government claimed that the trust was a monopoly and that it was in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. The trust denied this and claimed that it was a legal combination of business.

The supreme court has now decided in favor of the trust, holding that it was a legal combination of business and that it was not in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.
